

Making music in Malibu

Musician Dave Winstone asks the audience questions about the instruments he played during his musical show at the library.

Children had fun dancing the “Macarena” as Dave Winstone played.

The Malibu Library hosted a special children’s musical show with musician Dave Winstone. Winstone brought a variety of instruments from different countries to play for the children, including a guitar, banjo, ukulele, mandolin, recorder, penny whistle, harmonica and didgeridoo. The children sang and danced during the performance to familiar folk and children’s songs. After the performance, a surprise gift awaited the children—a book of their choice. The next event is Wild Animals and the Malibu Mandrill on July 8.

Triplets Tallula, Ranger and Wiley Murphree celebrated their birthday at the Malibu Library’s musical show on Wednesday.
